

Photograph Hands at Work

025

Hands tell us so much about one's life, their trade and a bit about their past. They make wonderful subjects to photograph. The challenge is to capture them doing something interesting - something not often seen. In the shot below, a Revolutionary War reenactor loads a rifle from the year 1861 - creating an image of antiquity and interest.

18-55mm | f/5.6 | 1/250 seconds | ISO 100